

Filene i<sup>3</sup> Participation Agreement

By making submissions to Filene Research Institute (“Filene”), you represent that you understand, and are authorized to agree on your own behalf and on behalf of your employer, and do so agree as follows:

You grant Filene a perpetual, worldwide, irrevocable, royalty-free and non-exclusive license to use, reproduce, transmit, import, export, modify, adapt, reduce to practice, distribute copies of by sale, lease, or lending, publicly perform and publicly display any ideas, concepts, theories, designs, techniques, methodologies, processes, procedures, and other property, know-how or information (each in whole or in part) you submit (“Ideas”), to practice any business method involving the use thereof, and to prepare derivative works thereof and/or incorporate such Ideas into other works in any format or medium now known or later developed, and authorize third parties to do any or all of the foregoing. You represent that you have the right to grant Filene these rights, and you completely disclaim and release any right to any inventions, works, names, marks, methods, or other property which are created, executed, modified or otherwise used by Filene arising from the Ideas, and to any income derived there from.

You agree to indemnify, defend, and hold Filene harmless from and against all claims or liabilities incurred by Filene arising out of claims that the Ideas you submit to Filene infringed third parties’ proprietary rights.